Hooding Ceremony Traditions

ACADEMIC ATTIRE

Academic attire was prescribed as early as 1321 in Portugal, and by the mid-14th Century, certain English colleges forbade “excess in apparel.” Some authorities say academic garb was influenced heavily by the fact that monks or clerics made up the great majority of the scholarly community. Thus hoods came about, it is said, to cover the shaved head. Others suggest that academic attire merely reflects certain facts of life in former times. The unheated rooms of medieval buildings, for example, made long gowns a practical necessity. Ultimately, distinctive caps, gowns, and hoods developed for the institution, the field of learning, and for the level of academic achievement. American colleges and universities first established a code of academic dress at the end of the 19th Century. Bachelors’ gowns have pointed sleeves and are worn closed. The gown for the doctor’s degree has bell-shaped sleeves and may be worn open or closed. Black is the usual color for the gown, although some colleges allow those receiving the Ph.D. to wear gowns of the color of the institution.

THE HOOD

Trimmings in black velvet or in the distinctive color of the discipline are on the gown and the hood. The lining color of the academic hood identifies the university that granted the highest degree held by the wearer. Scarlet and Gray symbolizes The Ohio State University. The color of the trim signifies the field of learning in which the degree was received. The color of the legal profession is purple. Today, the investment of the Juris Doctor and LL.M. hood and the presentation of the diploma case, soon to be filled with the official diploma, acknowledge the hard work, dedication, and academic achievement of the graduates of the Class of 2010. The investment of the hood also carries with it a continuing commitment to the values and responsibilities represented by the Juris Doctor degree. This ceremony marks the passage from the status of student to that of practitioner in the learned profession of the law.

HOODING COMMITTEE

The Moritz College of Law wishes to extend its thanks to the members of the Hooding Advisory Committee for their hard work and dedication in planning the Hooding Ceremony, the Send-Off festivities, the 3L Speaker, and the Class Gift. Members include Jessica Verhotz (co-chair), Ryan Gregg (co-chair), Orlie Benjamin, Bob Bitzenhofer, Drew LaFramboise, Miranda Leppla, and Amanda Rose.

With Appreciation

The Class of 2010 wishes to express a special thank you to parents, families, and friends for the support they have provided over the past three years. The class thanks faculty for faithfully guiding them through the tunnel to see the light of this day, the staff of the College for their service, and alumni for their ongoing support of the College. The class hopes to give back in full measure what has been given to them.

Congratulations

Alan C. Michaels

DEAN AND EDWIN M. COOPERMAN PROFESSOR OF LAW

I would like to be one of the first to congratulate you on graduating from The Ohio State University Moritz College of Law. You have plenty to be proud of on this momentous day. Your accomplishments during law school extended well beyond the doors of Drinko Hall, and your unceasing drive and accomplishment have raised expectations for future generations of Moritz students.

The Class of 2010's achievements are countless. Your class was instrumental in organizing visits from U.S. Supreme Court Justices Ruth Bader Ginsburg and Antonin Scalia to Drinko Hall.

Your class boasted nearly 10,000 hours of public service work while enrolled at Moritz, which aided countless people across the country and abroad. You broadened the College's five journals by creating thought-provoking and innovative publications. Your class was the first to spend three years engaged in the College's Program on Law and Leadership, which was started in 2007 to integrate leadership and legal expertise. In a tight economy, you spearheaded efforts to raise thousands of dollars to help fellow classmates pursue public interest jobs during the summer.

The College's third graduating LL.M. class has also provided a diverse and welcome contribution to our law courses. Those of you in the LL.M. program came to us as accomplished law graduates, and we believe that you will continue to succeed.

I know that you will soon be improving the law firms, organizations, and institutions where you start your careers and the communities where you live. In these times of ever accelerating change, the role of attorneys — your role — will be critical in shaping and responding to this shifting environment.

I also would like to join you in extending thanks to the family and friends who have supported you throughout your law school career. For many of you, this ceremony culminates nearly two decades of education. Those family members and friends who have encouraged you through each exam, each course, and each semester should rightly share in today's celebration.

I, and all faculty and staff at Moritz, are proud of you. We hope that you leave today proud of your Moritz degree. Use your legal education to serve and lead with integrity. Visit us often, and let us know how you are doing, both professionally and personally. We will share your good news with your friends and take special pride in your contributions and achievements.

Sincerely,

Moritz College of Law 1910 football team

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY Moritz College of Law

In the fall of 1890, Ohio State won its first football game over Ohio Wesleyan 20-14. That same year, another team of students organized a different “game plan” to persuade the University’s Board of Trustees to provide formal instruction in law.

By the following spring, the young advocates scored a victory, and a resolution was passed for the establishment of a Law Department to be supported solely from student tuition, set at $60 per year.

Classes began October 1, 1891, in the Franklin County Courthouse with 33 students, including one woman. Instruction was provided by prominent lawyers under the administration of Ohio Supreme Court Justice Marshall J. Williams, who served as the first dean.

Financial problems beset the new Law Department. In 1892, Rutherford B. Hayes, chairman of the Board of Trustees and former president of the United States, made a $300 personal gift and encouraged support from others. University funding of $1,500 was made available early in 1893, a full-time dean was appointed, and by 1894 classes were moved to the main campus. The Law Department was elevated to the status of a College of Law in 1896 and five years later became a charter member of the Association of American Law Schools.

Led by Dean Alan Michaels, the College is poised for its second century of service to the profession. The $30 million gift from Michael E. Moritz ’61 provided for scholarships for students, and endowed faculty chairs, among many other initiatives. In addition to the Ohio State Law Journal, the Ohio State Journal on Dispute Resolution and the Ohio State Journal on Criminal Law, the College has added the I/S: A Journal of Law and Policy for the Information Society and the Entrepreneurial Business Law Journal. Opportunities to study off-campus have expanded to include summer- and semester-long programs at Oxford University in England, and a summer program in Washington, D.C. The Barrister Club was created with alumni donations to house programming for alumni and students, including the innovative Mentoring and More @ Moritz Program, which promotes professionalism and serves as a bridge between the theory and practice of law. Through the Schottenstein Zox & Dunn Distinguished Practitioners in Residence Program in Business Law, students take one-credit courses from prominent practitioners. The College also started the Program on Law and Leadership, which is committed to the idea that leadership education is a lifelong endeavor combining theoretical knowledge, practice, and applied skills.

The handful of students who pioneered the founding of the College could not have envisioned The Ohio State University Moritz College of Law as it is today. The College’s proud past is the prologue to its exciting future as one of the nation’s premier public law schools.

Deborah Jones Merritt

JOHN DEAVER DRINKO-BAKER & HOSTETLER CHAIR IN LAW

The 2009-10 school year will likely be a memorable one for Deborah Jones Merritt, the John Deaver Drinko-Baker & Hostetler Chair in Law. In October, Professor Merritt stood before the U.S. Supreme Court admirably arguing her first case to the Court. And, today, the Class of 2010 honors her with her first Morgan E. Shipman Outstanding Professor Award.

“I was thrilled to argue before the Supreme Court,” Merritt said, “but the classroom is my favorite place. Teaching is a two-way connection to the future. As professors, we help shape tomorrow’s counselors, policymakers, and judges. At the same time, students channel the future back to us: They offer a constant stream of new technologies, ideas, and experiences.”

Professor Merritt graduated from Harvard College summa cum laude in 1977 and from Columbia Law School in 1980. After graduation, Professor Merritt clerked for Judge (now Justice) Ruth Bader Ginsburg on the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit and for Justice Sandra Day O’Connor on the Supreme Court of the United States.

Professor Merritt practiced law in Atlanta, Ga., and joined the law faculty at the University of Illinois in 1985. Ten years later, she joined the Ohio State faculty as the Drinko Chair. “My husband and I both have roots in Ohio,” Merritt reflects, “so coming to Ohio State was a homecoming for us.”

Professor Merritt has published widely on issues of equality, affirmative action, federalism, health and technology, tort reform, and legal education. Much of her work has focused on public policy issues, and she has made numerous presentations to judges, legislators, and other policymakers. Professor Merritt has also co-taught courses in Europe with both Justice Ginsburg and Justice O’Connor.

In December 2008, Professor Merritt and her Moritz colleague Associate Professor Ric Simmons published Learning Evidence: From the Federal Rules to the Courtroom, a text that offers a novel approach to the basic Evidence course. Students call the book an “uncasebook” because it omits the appellate opinions that dominate other texts. “In the Evidence course,” Merritt explains, “cases just weighed us down. We have much livelier discussions with this text.”

Professor Merritt has been honored as an Ohio State University Distinguished Lecturer (1999), University Distinguished Scholar (2002), and Distinguished Teacher (2009), awards conferred on the University’s most outstanding professors. In 2004, the University recognized her work promoting diversity with one of its Distinguished Diversity Enhancement Awards. She also served as the University’s general commencement speaker for the Autumn 2004 commencement. From 2000-05, Merritt directed the John Glenn Institute, a University-wide institute devoted to encouraging public service and informing public policy.

Outstanding Staff Member

Monte Smith

ASSISTANT DEAN FOR ACADEMIC AFFAIRS

After 16 years, Monte Smith '90 left his job as a judicial clerk to return to his alma mater as the assistant dean for academic affairs in 2006. To say that he's been a student favorite in the position is an understatement; Smith is being awarded the Outstanding Staff Member award for the second consecutive year.

"I'm honored," Smith said. "I feel like I should be giving them an award, not the other way around."

Smith graduated from the Moritz College of Law in 1990, and he also received his bachelor's degree in English from The Ohio State University.

Following graduation from Moritz, Smith worked as an associate for Jones Day in Columbus. At Jones Day, Smith's practice primarily focused on bankruptcy issues.

He then went on to clerk for the Honorable Sandra S. Beckwith in the United States District Court for the Southern District of Ohio in Columbus and Cincinnati. Between Judge Beckwith and a one-year stint with the Honorable Mark R. Abel, Smith spent 14 years as a judicial clerk. He drafted proposed opinions and orders, consulted the judges on various issues, and trained new clerks and externs. "It was a dream job for me; I am still surprised I mustered the courage to leave."

Smith and his wife, Lisa, wanted to return to Columbus so that their children could be closer to their grandparents. In 2006, Smith accepted the assistant dean of academic affairs position at Moritz.

Here, he oversees or participates in several initiatives, including registrar's office operations, Mentoring and More @ Moritz, academic advising, the judicial externship program, and clerkship advising. He also teaches Legal Writing and Analysis, Civil Procedure II, and this fall will teach Appellate Advocacy to the entire second-year class.

"What I enjoy most are the one-on-one interactions with students," he said. "They often apologize for interrupting or taking my time, but their visits are the best part of my day."

Smith has the opportunity to work with Moritz students through many of the challenges that law school presents. From finding a summer clerkship to help in the classroom, he continually provides students with valuable support and advice. To this year's graduating class, Smith had one final piece of guidance. "You will be in a position, personally and professionally, to help so many people. Most of the time, you only have to be willing, and you will reap the rewards long after you have forgotten the minor inconvenience."

Public Service Fellows

The Public Service Fellows Program seeks to encourage public service by students through recognizing their successful completion of 50 or more volunteer hours of legal service. Students who donate their time in this way during their law school career are designated Public Service Fellows by the dean of the Moritz College of Law. That designation is indicated with a (+) next to the student's name in the Hooding program and added to the student's transcript. There are four levels of distinction. The Public Service Fellow is given to students who accumulate between 50 and 149 hours; the Public Service Fellow with Recognition is given to students who accumulate between 150 and 249 hours; the Public Service Fellow with Dean's Special Recognition is given to students who accumulate between 250 and 449 hours; and the Public Service Fellow with Dean's Highest Honors is given to students who accumulate 450 or more hours of volunteer legal service. We congratulate these students for their generous pro bono efforts.

Academic Achievement

These students, listed alphabetically, represent approximately the upper 25 percent of the 2010 graduating class, based upon academic performance through the end of five of six semesters of law study. Ranking for official degree honors and election to the Order of the Coif occur in June. Numerical divisions among students for special honors are often narrow margins, and the composition of the final upper 25 percent of the class may vary from these students.

The Order of the Coif is a national law school honor society. To be eligible for election by the faculty to the Order of the Coif, a student's academic average for all six semesters must rank in the top tenth of the graduating class.
